Join us in Tokyo, Japan, for our 12th Asia Pacific Symposium on Cochlear Implants and Related Sciences (APSCI2019) on November 27-30, 2019. This exciting meeting features the latest clinical research findings, to academic debates between experts on hearing, speech, and balance disorders while offering access to hands-on technology samples that are never seen before. The symposium will take place at the Keio Plaza Hotel in Shinjuku, which offers easy and quick access via public transportations to all facets of Tokyo's famous sightseeing spots including Asakusa, Akihabara, and Shibuya.

APSCI is a meeting that brings to issue, the high prevalence of hearing losses and its deep impact upon the impaired person's quality of everyday life (QOL) with its primary focus on hearing impairment, artificial hearing equipment, and language development. It held its first symposium in Kyoto in 1997 by Prof. Iwao Honjo and the third APSCI in Osaka in 2001 by Prof. Takeshi Kubo. Since then, APSCI has become the leading conference in this field and now attracts delegates not only from the Asia Pacific regions, but from all over the world.

Abstracts Submission will be from April 1 to August 20, 2019 for oral and poster sessions.

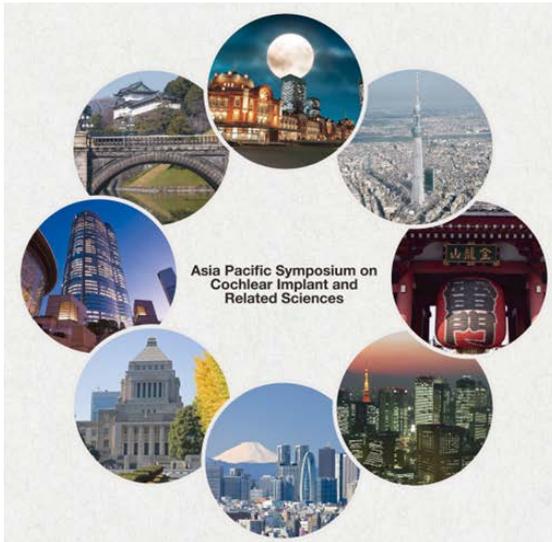

Awards will be given to exceptional presentations. In addition, various grants will be available to encourage young doctor researchers to participate in this meeting.

With beautiful autumn colored leaves adorning the trees throughout Japan and mild comfortable climate, late November is one of the best seasons to visit Japan.

The 2020 Tokyo Olympic is also right around the corner in the following year and Tokyo has never been as lively. APSCI 2019 await to take you to the forefront of hearing impairment treatment and prevention.

We welcome you with the Japanese hospitality of 'Omotenashi' to you and your distinguished friends.

Tatsuya Yamasoba, MD. PhD.

President of 12th Asia Pacific Symposium on Cochlear Implants and Related Sciences (APSCI2019)
Professor, Department of Otolaryngology and Head and Neck Surgery, the University of Tokyo
